

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A disk surface of an optical disk is divided into two regions by a straight line being close to a movement line for an optical pickup to scan and passing in the vicinity of a center of the optical disk. An auxiliary stabilizing member is arranged separately from a main stabilizing member at least one of the two regions.